1. BACKGROUND

Over the last decade or so, the Republic of Moldova has made significant positive progress towards poverty alleviation. However, the progress is far from uniform, with growing disparities between rural and urban settlements. Recent developments indicate that the country will be meeting some of its MDG commitments, particularly in terms of poverty reduction, while will have to make additional efforts for meeting its targets in other areas, in particular health, environment, among others.

The Government of the Republic of Moldova, under its Moldova 2020 Strategy, committed to further promote economic development, support infrastructure improvements, support education sector, and improve access to finance, among others.

Under the current UNPF (2013-2017), the United Nations committed to support the Government and people of the Republic of Moldova in the set priority areas, also pillars of the partnership framework: (a) Democratic Governance, Justice, Equality and Human Rights; (b) Human Development and Social Inclusion and (c) Environment, Climate Change and Disaster Risk Management. Support is directed towards tackling major development challenges currently affecting the development of the country. However, how to prioritize such challenges? How to address such challenges in an effective and efficient manner, given the existing developmental constraints? What innovative policy and programmatic responses are there available to generate new sustainable jobs, promote employability and entrepreneurship, re-channel remittances towards productive sectors?

To provide evidence-based answers to the above and pilot interventions addressing sustainable human development and inclusive growth, UNDP Moldova aims at developing a dedicated Projects Implementing Unit that would focus on: (a) policy analysis, (b) implementation of various joint interventions that would promote entrepreneurship and employability at local level, and (c) promotion of innovations throughout joint interventions for poverty reduction and inclusive growth.

The Implementing Unit will now be structured on three interlinked components, i.e. policy analysis, employability and innovative entrepreneurship. Each component will be having specific interventions and sub-components that may be activated or deactivated depending on the corporate decision and needs of the national counterpart(s).

The policy analysis component will be in charge of: producing regular policy briefs on critical areas where evidence-based analysis is needed to identify options and policy alternatives; development of the National Human Development Reports and related analytical background papers or summaries of in-depth interviews of FG interviews; coordination of the development of national MDG reports and related analytical papers; other analytical tasks for other components in the Unit;

The employability component will contain interventions that target skilled unemployed in search for relevant employment of local market and improvement of their soft skills to search for a decent job. Such component will be also dealing with promotion of new jobs created in the entrepreneurship component and work with LPAs willing to start-up small-scale career advisory centers or connect to the existing ones.

The innovative entrepreneurship component contains interventions for the creation of Business Innovations Lab, of an Innovations fund to support business start-up and business development, financial support instruments to be managed based on UNDP rules and regulations, creation of a Innovations Matching Forum, support to selected LPAs for the revision of the local economic development plans and scaling-up of a seed-money fund to support innovative start-ups at local level.
