TERMS OF REFERENCE (TOR)

A. TITLE OF THE ACTIVITY

TRAININGS FOR DRUG DEPENDENCY SPECIALISTS ON EVIDENCE-BASED DRUG DEPENDENCE TREATMENT AND HIV PREVENTION AMONG PEOPLE WHO USE DRUGS

B. BACKGROUND

Eastern Europe and Central Asia is the only region where HIV prevalence clearly remains on the rise. The HIV epidemic that is mainly IDU-driven poses one of the most formidable challenges to the development, progress and stability of the countries of the region. Moldova has a significant HIV epidemic which is particularly concentrated among certain sub-populations, such as injecting drug users. HIV prevalence among the general population is currently 0.37%. As of January 1st, 2014, a cumulative number of 8,667 HIV cases were registered, including 2,997 in the Transnistrian region.

Medically assisted addiction treatment, such as substitution treatment with methadone (OST) is part of the NAP for 2011-2015 and is implemented in the Republic of Moldova since 2004 in civil sector in two cities and since 2005 in prisons, currently in 11 sites. OST is not available on the left bank of the Nistru river, Transnistrian region.

OST estimated coverage is less than 1% at the moment (in 2012 304 patients in OST from estimated 31 562 IDU). Geographical availability of the OST in the country is very low, with OST programs available only in Chisinau and Balti and partly in the penitentiary institutions. OST in health care facilities still lacks full multidisciplinary approach to address multiple social needs of patients and the complete package of services does not always include wraparound services, such as employment support or the provision of OST to pregnant women who are active IDUs. There is a sizeable attrition rate of clients in OST programs. The verticality of the health care system undermines the provision of integrated services and reduces the effectiveness of individual medical interventions.

A qualitative assessment among people using methadone maintenance therapy has been undertaken in northern part of Moldova capital, Balti city. In order to assess people using drugs' feedback to OST program in Balti city, a small survey among 41 clients who entered OST was conducted in late 2009. Its results have shown that most clients entered the OST program in order to come off drugs (65.8%) and avoid withdrawal (17%). The majority of OST clients (78%) considered that the program allowed them to avoid problems with police and made them able to find a job, 19.5% thought they felt better. The shortcomings of the program, based on the opinions of 39% of respondents, were lack of flexibility of the program (short work hours, impossibility to leave town, no take-home doses) and some 15% clients considered they had a worse dependence from methadone. Some 34% of OST patients admitted to still using other drugs in addition to OST and thought more than half of their friends on OST (58.5%) were still using other drugs. The vast majority (95%) had good or excellent relationship with medical staff. As barriers for higher uptake of OST in Balti were mentioned lack of information about OST (39%), the requirement to be on narcology registry (22%) and negative attitudes towards methadone (12%) in the community of IDUs.

According to program reports, the average daily dose for OST clients in Chisinau is 42 mg, in Balti 47.4 mg and in prison hospital 64.4 mg, well below the WHO daily recommended dose of 80 to 120 mg of methadone, necessary to avoid any withdrawal symptoms. The under dosing might be the reason for parallel use of street drugs as a way to self-medicate withdrawal symptoms in patients on OST.

It appears that community of PWIDs has biased attitudes towards OST. A survey to investigate attitudes of PWIDs towards entering OST program in Balti showed that of 152 PWIDs clients of harm reduction program that were not in OST, only 23% would want to enter OST, 13% were not sure, while 64% did not want to enter OST, the main reasons being the belief that methadone is worse than street drugs (36%), the intention to come off drugs using another method (30%) and various inconveniences related to methadone program (8%). This might be one of important barriers in scaling up the program.

Latest trends of lower number of beneficiaries of OST included into treatment program, high rate of dropout rate alert national partners and question sustainability of resources invested on behalf of the Global Fund. In Moldova, OST is fully covered by the external funds.

C. OBJECTIVES:

The workshops will be guided by three main objectives as follows:

- 1) Based on the national Action Plan and MoH recommendations nr 13/02 on 13.03.2013 provide centralized and evidence based knowledge to medical doctors and other stakeholders in the field of drug dependence treatment.
- 2) Build on practical knowledge of doctors who will be present at the seminar and provide them with the necessary package of document and guiding principles in the process of opioid drug dependence diagnosis, treatment and surveillance.
- 3) To contribute to HIV/AIDS prevention, the reduction of stigma and discrimination towards PLHIV and IDUs.

D. DATES AND LOCATION: The workshop will take place in Chisinau, Moldova, November 26-27-28, 2014

E. PARTICIPANTS, total expected nr. 18 people: All in all 20 participants (plus moderator) will be involved in the workshop; we expect 10 addiction treatment doctors (narcologists and psychiatrists) and medical assistants representing 7 districts/rayon of Moldova; plus 5 physicians from the penitentiary sector.

The technical assistance activity has been implemented within the Project XCEA01 OFID/UNODC Partnership on Effective HIV/AIDS Prevention & Care among vulnerable groups in Central Asia & Eastern Europe.
